

Australian Mental Health Party
A voice in politics for mental health and well-being in Australia

AMHP CANDIDATE REGISTERED WITH AEC

The Australian Mental Health Party is running for the seat of Perth in the upcoming by-election.

The AMHP is pleased to announced it has successfully registered our candidate Dr Ben Mullings with the Australian Electoral Commission.

Dr Mullings has spent the past decade campaigning for changes to mental health policy to make psychological care easier to access for all Australians.

‘Mental health has been neglected by the major political parties for so long, human beings and their experiences have gotten lost in the mix.’

‘By voting for us you will see policies that will put people first.’

‘The AMHP is calling for an improvement to support services for mental health across Australia’

Dr Mullings is available for interview and picture opportunities
